Commissioner Macfarland responded to the toast, "The Board of Trade, the Handmaid of the Commissioners." He reviewed the effects of the centennial celebration five years ago, pointed out the rapid advance of the District in recent years and complimented the spirit of self-sacrifice in the citizens of the District. He said in part:

"The people of the District have done more than their share. For seventy eight years they maintained the Capital with practically no help from Congress. now they raise more taxes than Uncle Sam in his present impoverished financial condition can meet, dollar for dollar, in the expenditures of the Dis-

The brilliantly lighted dome of the Congressional Library will be paied to insignificance when the arrangements to illuminate the Capitol dome is completed.

Plans for the lighting of the dome are now being drawn and the bids for the furnishing and installing of the new Two hu lights will shortly be issued. It is roughly estimated that it will take 3,000 of the small incandescent globes to fill the part of the dome that is to be lighted. Unsightly and inadequate fix-tures are now in place, and the new arrangement will greatly improve the appearance of the dome.

The lights are to be arranged in four rows around the dome. The first row will be for the purpose of lighting the large fresco painting at the top. The three other rows of lights will be at different distances, and they will be so arranged that they cannot be seen. Only the light effect will be noticeable. Lights will also be placed over the eight large oil paintings that hang on the wall of
